Flutronix is Nathalie Joachim and Allison Loggins-Hull, two blazing young flutists who are "redefining the flute and modernizing its sound by hauling it squarely into the world of popular music." (MTV Iggy) Their original urban art pop is best described as "a unique blend of classical music, hip-hop, electronic programming and soulful vocals reminiscent of neo-R&B stars like Erykah Badu." (The Wall Street Journal) Their work as performers, producers and composers has moved them to collaborate with artists and ensembles from different realms and disciplines, including electronic music sensation Dan Deacon, legendary hip-hop producer Ski Beatz, the International Contemporary Ensemble and more.
Flutronix has performed at leading new music venues including WNYC's Greenespace, the Brooklyn Museum and 92Y Tribeca, and produces Flutronix and Friends, a collaborative new music series. The duo is regularly sought after as clinicians and educators and has presented and lectured for The Juilliard School, New England Conservatory, the New York Flute Club, the Atlanta Flute Club and other institutions across the country. Their self-titled debut album,released in October 2010 on the duo's label, has been broadcast on NPR, WNYC, WQXR, Q2 and other stations nationally.
